Insights

Buyers of consumer businesses are paying for brands that have held price and volume, for companies that sell through more than one channel and for operators with room to add distribution or locations. They have stayed active while tariffs, fuel, and interest rates have each changed what a buyer treats as normal earnings.

KEY INSIGHTS

01 Volume has to hold up alongside price
Hershey's organic sales rose 3.6% on an 8-point decline in volume. Church & Dwight grew 5.8% with volume up 4.3%. Show buyers price and unit volume by product line.

02 Selling through several channels pays
E-commerce reached 17.1% of retail sales in the second quarter, and YETI grew wholesale 10% and direct-to-consumer 7%. Buyers are paying for brands that sell through more than one channel.

03 Platforms buy location by location
Add-ons made up about 75% of US private equity buyouts in the second quarter. Boyd Group's sales rose 29.9%, mostly from new locations. Operators with room to add sites draw buyers.

04 Tariffs, fuel, and rates are being repriced
Diesel averaged $6.29 a gallon in September, and the federal funds target now sits at 3.75% to 4.00%. Owners who show landed cost by period and fuel recovery by contract protect their earnings figure.

Happening in Consumer Right Now

Four developments shaping the market, each with what a listed company's management said about it in its latest results.

WHAT IT MEANS FOR OWNERS

Buyers are paying for brands and operators that have held price and volume, that sell through more than one channel, and that have room to add distribution or locations.

An owner who can show price increases by product or service line, with unit volume and customer retention beside them, gives a buyer the evidence that supports a higher valuation.

Brands are being sorted by whether volume follows price

Hershey's organic sales rose 3.6% in the second quarter on about 12 points of price and an 8-point decline in volume, while Church & Dwight grew organic sales 5.8% with volume up 4.3% (Hershey; Church & Dwight). General Mills reported flat organic sales with volume down a point, and store brands reached a record 23.8% of units sold in the first half (General Mills; PLMA).

"Our power brands continued to perform exceptionally well in a challenging macroeconomic environment, driving a second straight quarter of industry-leading organic sales growth."

Rick Dierker, Chief Executive Officer, Church & Dwight

Growth is arriving through more than one channel

E-commerce reached $340.2 billion in the second quarter, or 17.1% of retail sales, and Walmart's global e-commerce sales grew 23% in its July quarter ( Census Bureau; Walmart). YETI grew wholesale sales 10% and direct-to-consumer sales 7% in its second quarter, and General Mills' foodservice business grew organic sales 4% while the company's total organic sales were flat (YETI; General Mills).

"We also saw continued progress across our omni-channel model, including strong wholesale sell-through, healthy DTC demand and improving trends in Corporate Sales."

Matt Reintjes, Chair of the Board and Chief Executive Officer, YETI

Strategic acquirers are reshaping portfolios at scale

Kimberly-Clark, McCormick, and Sysco have committed more than $120 billion to three transactions since November 2025 (Kenvue; Unilever's food business; Jetro Restaurant Depot). The largest companies are also selling and separating businesses: General Mills completed the sale of its Brazil business on September 2, Keurig Dr Pepper is preparing to separate in early 2027, and Middleby spun off its food processing business in July (General Mills; Keurig Dr Pepper; Middleby).

"We remain confident in the strategic benefits of the proposed combination with Unilever Foods and have made substantial progress on integration planning."

Brendan M. Foley, Chairman, President, and CEO, McCormick

Multi-site platforms keep adding locations

Add-on acquisitions made up about 75% of US private equity buyouts in the second quarter (PitchBook). Boyd Group's second-quarter sales rose 29.9%, mostly from new locations that include the 258 Joe Hudson's collision centers it bought in January. Tidal Wave Auto Spa reached 332 car wash locations in September, and SPS PoolCare had completed 191 acquisitions since 2021 by January (Boyd Group; Tidal Wave Auto Spa; SPS PoolCare).

"We also successfully completed the conversion of Joe Hudson's 258 locations during the quarter, accelerating synergy realization, which contributed to the strength in our profitability."

Brock Haber, President & CEO, Boyd Group

Company figures and quotations are from quarterly earnings releases filed between July 30 and October 1, 2026, and quotations are reproduced as published. Store brand share is Circana data for the six months to June 14, 2026. Platform location and acquisition counts are from the linked announcements.

Tariffs, Fuel, and Financing: Three Costs Buyers Are Repricing

Tariffs, fuel, and interest rates have each moved in the past year, and each changes what a buyer will treat as normal earnings.

A consumer company that reaches the market in the next year will present earnings that passed through three tariff regimes, a fuel shock, and the first increase in the federal funds rate since 2023. Buyers are rebuilding each of those costs period by period before they settle on the earnings they will pay for.

The effect differs from one company to the next. YETI recorded a $45.6 million net benefit from tariff refunds in its second quarter and Walmart said it reinvested its refunds into price, while 91% of the foodservice equipment manufacturers surveyed by their trade association reported negative effects from tariffs and 78% said they were passing the cost on to customers.

> An owner who can hand a buyer landed cost by period, fuel recovery by contract, and a clear account of how the business is financed shortens diligence and protects the earnings figure the price is built on.

WHAT BUYERS ARE REBUILDING

01 Tariffs

The Supreme Court held on February 20 that the International Emergency Economic Powers Act does not authorize tariffs. A temporary 10% tariff followed, and since July 24 Section 301 tariffs of 10% to 12.5% have applied to 60 trading partners. Section 232 duties stayed in place, including 25% on upholstered furniture, and duty-free treatment for parcels under $800 remains suspended.

WHAT BUYERS ASK FOR Landed cost under each regime, the status of any refund claim, and the sourcing alternatives the company has already qualified.

02 Fuel

On-highway diesel averaged $6.29 a gallon in September against $3.75 a year earlier (FRED). The Energy Information Administration's October outlook expects retail diesel to average about $4.50 next year, which would still be well above the price distributors and route-based service companies paid a year ago.

WHAT BUYERS ASK FOR Which customer contracts carry fuel surcharges or cost escalators, how quickly they reset, and how much of the increase the company has recovered.

03 Financing

The Federal Reserve raised its target range to 3.75% to 4.00% on September 16 and projects a policy rate of 4.1% at the end of 2026 and 2027. Spreads on direct loans for buyouts widened by roughly 25 to 50 basis points in the second quarter, and earn-outs appeared in 24% of 2025 transactions with a median equal to 34% of the closing payment (SRS Acquiom study, as summarized by Fasken).

WHAT BUYERS ASK FOR How much of the price is paid in cash at closing, how much is contingent, and how much is rolled into the buyer's equity.

THE REPRICING IN FOUR FIGURES

12.5%
Section 301 tariff on goods from China and Vietnam since July 24

$6.29
Diesel per gallon, September average, against $3.75 a year earlier

3.75% to 4.00%
Federal funds target range after the September 16 increase

24%
Share of 2025 transactions that included an earn-out

Buyers who finance with debt carry the higher rate into their models, which favors sellers whose earnings are growing.

Tariff rates are as described in the linked sources. Diesel is the monthly average US on-highway retail price published by the Energy Information Administration. Earn-out figures are from the SRS Acquiom 2026 deal terms study of 2025 transactions.

Perspectives on Four Consumer Sectors

What is moving demand, and who is buying, in each of the sectors the consumer practice covers.

Food & Beverage

23.8% Store brand share of units sold in the first half of 2026

- The largest packaged food companies report flat or falling volume, and they are selling slow-growing brands and buying growth and capacity from smaller companies (General Mills; Conagra).
- Growth is in protein, zero-sugar beverages, supplements, and foodservice, and Procter & Gamble agreed to buy Thorne in a deal reportedly valued at $3.8 billion.
- National distributors are growing case volume with independent restaurants, up 5.1% at US Foods and 5.8% organically at Performance Food Group .

WHO IS BUYING

Family-owned strategics such as Rich Products, Sargento, and C.H. Guenther, bakery consolidators, private equity platforms, and European strategics entering the United States.

BENCHMARK INTERNATIONAL

4 closed since January 2025

27 live engagements

Consumer Brands & Products

7% Growth in both prestige and mass beauty sales in the first half of 2026

- Beauty, personal care, over-the-counter health, and pet products drew a large share of this year's brand acquisitions, and beauty and pet spending are still growing (Circana; American Pet Products Association).
- Dollar growth overstates unit demand: non-edible packaged goods rose 3.1% in dollars and fell 2.2% in units in June ( Circana).
- Importers have carried three tariff regimes since April 2025, and packaging producer-responsibility rules took effect in California on May 1.

WHO IS BUYING

Strategics such as Procter & Gamble, Clorox, and Henkel, consumer private equity firms such as Advent, TSG, and TowerBrook, and brand-management firms.

BENCHMARK INTERNATIONAL

2 closed since January 2025

12 live engagements

Foodservice & Distribution

$1.55T Restaurant and foodservice sales forecast for 2026

- Operators are spending carefully: sales of equipment and supplies through manufacturers' agents rose 2.0% in the second quarter, and the share of agents reporting more quoting fell to 33%.
- Franchisee distress is the credit risk in the channel. A 314-unit Wendy's franchisee filed for Chapter 11 in September after store-level EBITDA fell 48%.
- Parts, repair, ice, and refreshment route businesses changed hands all year ( Parts Town; Easy Ice).

WHO IS BUYING

Strategic dealers such as Singer and Wasserstrom, parts and service platforms such as Parts Town and Tech24, and route platforms such as Five Star Breaktime Solutions.

BENCHMARK INTERNATIONAL

6 closed since January 2025

5 live engagements

Consumer Services & Retail

$3.1B Enterprise value of the Mister Car Wash take-private completed in May

- Sponsors paid for scale: Leonard Green took Mister Car Wash private and Blackstone agreed to buy Champions Group for about $2.5 billion.
- Platforms buy family-owned operators a few locations at a time, as when Classic Collision bought Kendrick Paint & Body, a nine-location business family-owned since 1952.
- Housing-linked demand softened through the summer, and growth in home improvement spending is projected to slow to 0.5% by the second quarter of 2027.

WHO IS BUYING

Sponsor-backed platforms in car wash, collision, roofing, pool, and garage door service, public acquirers such as Rollins and Boyd Group, and regional strategics.

BENCHMARK INTERNATIONAL

20 closed since January 2025

66 live engagements

Benchmark International counts are from the firm's transaction records as of October 1, 2026. Store brand share is from the Private Label Manufacturers Association, the restaurant sales forecast from the National Restaurant Association and beauty sales from Circana.

Four pieces from the quarter

Each bears on how consumer businesses are valued and sold, and each is shown with the passage we marked and the reason it matters to an owner.

USDA ECONOMIC RESEARCH SERVICE — September 25, 2026

Food Price Outlook: Summary Findings

> "In 2026, prices for all food are forecast to increase 2.9 percent, with a forecast interval of 2.5 to 3.2 percent."
>
> USDA Economic Research Service, Food Price Outlook

Our read. Food-at-home prices are forecast to rise 2.4% and food-away-from-home prices 3.5%, with beef and veal up 9.4% and eggs down 29.4%. Input costs are moving in different directions by category, which is why buyers ask for price and cost history by product line.

PRIVATE LABEL MANUFACTURERS ASSOCIATION — July 8, 2026

Store Brands Continue Gains in Unit Sales and Shares

> "The disconnect between unit sales and dollar sales reflects, in part, fluctuating national brand pricing."
>
> Peggy Davies, President, Private Label Manufacturers Association

Our read. Store brand unit share reached a record 23.8% in the six months to mid-June, while store brand dollar sales were flat and national brand dollars rose 2.2%. Buyers pay for brands that hold unit volume while they raise price.

READ HERE

NATIONAL RESTAURANT ASSOCIATION — September 30, 2026

Restaurant Performance Index: August 2026

> "The National Restaurant Association's Restaurant Performance Index (RPI) rose for the fourth consecutive month in August, largely because of improvements in both same-store sales and customer traffi c levels."
> National Restaurant Association, Restaurant Performance Index

Our read. The index stood at 100.6, with 51% of operators reporting higher same-store sales than a year earlier and 46% still reporting lower traffic. Distributors and equipment dealers that sell to restaurants are valued partly on the health of those customers.

DELOITTE — September 10, 2026

Deloitte Forecasts Holiday Retail Sales to Reach $1.70 Trillion to $1.71 Trillion

> "As they look to get more out of their dollars, we continue to see value-seeking behaviors across income levels, including switching among brands and retailers and using promotions to manage spending."
> Natalie Martini, vice chair, Deloitte, and US retail and consumer products leader

Our read. Holiday sales are forecast to rise 4.0% to 4.8% and e-commerce sales 7.5% to 8.4%. Online sales growing at nearly twice the pace of the total keeps channel mix in front of every buyer of a consumer brand.

How the figures were gathered. Listed-company figures are from StockAnalysis and use reported results. Index series are from FRED, the US Census Bureau, and the University of Michigan. Benchmark International figures are from the firm's transaction records as of October 1, 2026. No investment bank is used as a source. Subscription and registration sources that would add depth, including GF Data, PitchBook, S&P Capital IQ, and Circana, are listed in a separate one-page companion.
