Insights

Buyers of consumer businesses stayed active through the third quarter while rebuilding what they treat as normal earnings after a year of changes in tariffs, fuel prices, and interest rates. Brands that held volume through price increases, companies that sell through more than one channel and operators with room to add locations drew the strongest bids.

07 Perspectives on four consumer sectors

08 Our view

09 What we're reading

Happening in Consumer Right Now

Four developments shaping the consumer market in the third quarter, with management commentary on page 20.

WHAT IT MEANS FOR OWNERS

Buyers are paying for brands and operators that have held price and volume, that sell through more than one channel, and that have room to add distribution or locations.

An owner who can show price increases by product or service line, with unit volume, and customer retention beside them, gives a buyer the evidence that supports a higher valuation.

Brands are being sorted by whether volume follows price

Hershey's organic sales rose 3.6% in the second quarter on about 12 points of price and an 8-point decline in volume, while Church & Dwight grew organic sales 5.8% with volume up 4.3% (Hershey; Church & Dwight). General Mills reported flat organic sales with volume down a point, and store brands reached a record 23.8% of units sold in the first half (General Mills; PLMA).

READ-THROUGH

Buyers pay for brands that hold unit volume while they raise price.

Growth is arriving through more than one channel

E-commerce reached $340.2 billion in the second quarter, or 17.1% of retail sales, and Walmart's global e-commerce sales grew 23% in its July quarter (Census Bureau; Walmart). YETI grew wholesale sales 10% and direct-to-consumer sales 7% in its second quarter, and General Mills' foodservice business grew organic sales 4% while the company's total organic sales were flat (YETI; General Mills).

READ-THROUGH

Buyers credit companies that sell through wholesale, direct-to-consumer, and foodservice rather than through one channel.

$120B

Strategic acquirers are reshaping portfolios at scale

Kimberly-Clark, McCormick, and Sysco have committed more than $120 billion to three transactions since November 2025 (Kenvue; Unilever's food business; Jetro Restaurant Depot). The largest companies are also selling and separating businesses: General Mills completed the sale of its Brazil business on September 2, Keurig Dr Pepper is preparing to separate in early 2027, and Middleby spun off its food processing business in July (General Mills; Keurig Dr Pepper; Middleby).

READ-THROUGH

Large companies are selling slower businesses and buying growth and capacity from smaller companies.

3 in 4

Multi-site platforms keep adding locations

Add-on acquisitions made up about three-quarters of US private equity buyouts in the second quarter (PitchBook). Boyd Group's second-quarter sales rose 29.9%, mostly from new locations that include the 258 Joe Hudson's collision centers it bought in January, Tidal Wave Auto Spa reached 332 car wash locations in September, and SPS PoolCare had completed 191 acquisitions since 2021 by January (Boyd Group; Tidal Wave Auto Spa; SPS PoolCare).

READ-THROUGH

Add-ons made up about three-quarters of private equity buyouts, so owners with locations or routes a platform can absorb draw the most interest.

Company figures are from quarterly earnings releases filed between July 30 and October 1, 2026. Store brand share is Circana data for the six months to June 14, 2026. Platform location and acquisition counts are from the linked announcements.

Tariffs, Fuel, and Financing: Three Costs Buyers Are Repricing

Tariffs, fuel, and interest rates moved in the past year, and the moves change what a buyer will treat as normal earnings.

A consumer company that reaches the market in the next year will present earnings that passed through three tariff regimes, a fuel shock, and the first increase in the federal funds rate since 2023. Buyers are rebuilding each of those costs period by period before they settle on the earnings they will pay for.

The effect differs from one company to the next. YETI recorded a $45.6 million net benefit from tariff refunds in its second quarter and Walmart said it reinvested its refunds into price, while 91% of the foodservice equipment manufacturers surveyed by their trade association reported negative effects from tariffs and 78% said they were passing the cost on to customers.

> An owner who can hand a buyer landed cost by period, fuel recovery by contract, and a clear account of how the business is financed shortens diligence and protects the earnings figure the price is built on.

WHAT BUYERS ARE REBUILDING

01 Tariffs

The Supreme Court held on February 20 that the International Emergency Economic Powers Act does not authorize tariffs, a temporary 10% tariff followed, and since July 24 Section 301 tariffs of 10% to 12.5% apply to 60 trading partners. Section 232 duties stayed in place, including 25% on upholstered furniture, and duty-free treatment for parcels under $800 remains suspended.

WHAT BUYERS ASK FOR Landed cost under each regime, the status of any refund claim, and the sourcing alternatives the company has already qualified.

02 Fuel

On-highway diesel averaged $6.29 a gallon in September against $3.75 a year earlier (FRED). The Energy Information Administration's October outlook expects retail diesel to average about $4.50 next year, which would still be well above the price distributors and route-based service companies paid a year ago.

WHAT BUYERS ASK FOR Which customer contracts carry fuel surcharges or cost escalators, how quickly they reset, and how much of the increase the company has recovered.

03 Financing

The Federal Reserve raised its target range to 3.75% to 4.00% in September and projects a policy rate of 4.1% at the end of 2026 and 2027. Spreads on new direct loans to middle-market buyouts widened by roughly 25 basis points in the second quarter, and earn-outs appeared in 24% of 2025 transactions with a median equal to 34% of the closing payment (SRS Acquiom study, as summarized by Fasken).

WHAT BUYERS ASK FOR How much of the price is paid in cash at closing, how much is contingent, and how much is rolled into the buyer's equity.

THE REPRICING IN FOUR FIGURES

12.5%
Section 301 tariff on goods from China and Vietnam since July 24

$6.29
Diesel per gallon, September average, against $3.75 a year earlier

3.75% to 4.00%
Federal funds target range after the September 16 increase

24%
Share of 2025 transactions that included an earn-out

A higher rate lowers the debt a sponsor can place against the same earnings, so price support shifts toward strategic buyers that fund purchases from cash flow.

Tariff rates are as described in the linked sources. Diesel is the monthly average US on-highway retail price published by the Energy Information Administration. Earn-out figures are from the SRS Acquiom 2026 deal terms study of 2025 transactions, and the loan spread figure is from Northleaf Capital Partners' second-quarter private credit update.

Perspectives on Four Consumer Sectors

What is moving demand, and who is buying, in each of the sectors the consumer practice covers.

Food & Beverage

23.8% Store brand share of units sold in the first half of 2026

- The largest packaged food companies report flat or falling volume, and they are selling slow brands and buying growth and capacity from smaller companies (General Mills; Conagra).
- Growth is in protein, zero-sugar beverages, supplements, and foodservice, and Procter & Gamble agreed to buy Thorne in a deal reportedly valued at $3.8 billion.
- National distributors are growing case volume with independent restaurants, up 5.1% at US Foods and 5.8% organically at Performance Food Group .

WHO IS BUYING

Family-owned strategics such as Rich Products, Sargento, and C.H. Guenther, bakery consolidators, private equity platforms, and European strategics entering the United States.

BENCHMARK INTERNATIONAL

4 closed since January 2025

Consumer Brands & Products

7% Growth in both prestige and mass beauty sales in the first half of 2026

- Beauty, personal care, over-the-counter health, and pet products drew a large share of this year's brand acquisitions, and beauty and pet spending are still growing (Circana; American Pet Products Association).
- Dollar growth overstates unit demand: non-edible packaged goods rose 3.1% in dollars and fell 2.2% in units in the five weeks to July 4 (Circana).
- Importers have carried three tariff regimes since April 2025, and packaging producer-responsibility rules took effect in California on May 1.

WHO IS BUYING

Strategics such as Procter & Gamble, Clorox, and Henkel, consumer private equity firms such as Advent, TSG, and TowerBrook, and brand-management firms.

BENCHMARK INTERNATIONAL

2 closed since January 2025

Foodservice & Distribution

$1.55T Restaurant and foodservice sales forecast for 2026

- Operators are spending carefully: sales of equipment and supplies through manufacturers' agents rose 2.0% in the second quarter, and the share of agents reporting more quoting fell to 33%.
- Franchisee distress is the credit risk in the channel. A 314-unit Wendy's franchisee filed for Chapter 11 in September after store-level EBITDA fell 48%.
- Parts Town and Easy Ice kept buying repair and ice-machine businesses through the year.

WHO IS BUYING

Strategic dealers such as Singer and Wasserstrom, parts and service platforms such as Parts Town and Tech24, and route platforms such as Five Star Breaktime Solutions.

BENCHMARK INTERNATIONAL

6 closed since January 2025

Consumer Services & Retail

$3.1B Enterprise value of the Mister Car Wash take-private completed in May

- Sponsors paid for scale: Leonard Green took Mister Car Wash private and Blackstone agreed to buy a majority stake in Champions Group in a deal reported at about $2.5 billion.
- Platforms buy family-owned operators a few locations at a time, as when Classic Collision bought Kendrick Paint & Body, a nine-location family business, in December.
- Housing-linked demand softened through the summer, and growth in home improvement spending is projected to slow to 0.5% by the second quarter of 2027.

WHO IS BUYING

Sponsor-backed platforms in car wash, collision, roofing, pool, and garage door service, public acquirers such as Rollins and Boyd Group, and regional strategics.

BENCHMARK INTERNATIONAL

20 closed since January 2025

Benchmark International counts are from the firm's transaction records as of October 1, 2026. Store brand share is from the Private Label Manufacturers Association, the restaurant sales forecast from the National Restaurant Association and beauty sales from Circana.

Our View

Buyers are paying for brands and operators that held volume, sell through more than one channel, and can add locations.

OUR POSITION

Buyers are paying for brands and operators that held volume while they raised price, that sell through more than one channel, and that can add locations, and with financing costs higher they are testing the earnings behind that performance more closely than a year ago.

23.8%

store brand share of units sold in the first half of 2026 (Private Label Manufacturers Association)

About 75%

of US private equity buyouts in the second quarter were add-on acquisitions (PitchBook)

9 of 17

named acquirers of our consumer clients were operating companies or platforms adding to an existing business

SECTOR	DEMAND	OUR VIEW
FOOD & BEVERAGE	MIXED ●●○○	Buyers are separating brands that hold volume from brands that rely on price. Hershey's organic sales rose 3.6% on about 12 points of price against an 8-point volume decline, store brands reached 23.8% of units, and packaged food companies trade at a median 8.8x EBITDA against 9.8x a year ago. Strategics still pay for growth categories, as Hormel did at 10.7x for Brakebush Brothers.
CONSUMER BRANDS & PRODUCTS	STEADY ●●●○	Beauty, personal care, over-the-counter health, and pet products drew a large share of this year's brand acquisitions, and household and personal care companies trade at a median 17.1x EBITDA against 16.3x a year ago. Dollar growth runs ahead of unit demand, with non-edible packaged goods up 3.1% in dollars and down 2.2% in units, so buyers will test unit trends and tariff exposure by product.
FOODSERVICE & DISTRIBUTION	STEADY ●●●○	Foodservice distribution companies trade at a median 13.6x EBITDA, level with a year ago, and Sysco agreed to pay 14.6x operating income for Jetro Restaurant Depot. Operators are spending carefully, with the share of manufacturers' agents reporting more quoting down to 33%, and a 314-unit Wendy's franchisee in Chapter 11 shows where credit risk sits.
CONSUMER SERVICES & RETAIL	STRONG ●●●●	Sponsors and public acquirers keep paying for scale and recurring customers: Leonard Green paid $3.1 billion for Mister Car Wash, Oak Hill agreed to buy Guild Garage Group at a reported 16x EBITDA, and Rollins allocated about 89% of its Romex price to customer contracts and goodwill. Consumer services shares are down 33.3% in a year and the median multiple is 11.9x against 18.2x a year ago.

OUR ADVICE TO OWNERS

1. Show price, volume, and customer retention by product or service line, because buyers separate growth that comes from units from growth that comes from price.
2. Assemble landed cost by period, fuel recovery by contract, and the financing terms of the business before a process, since buyers are rebuilding earnings from those three costs.
3. Approach operating companies and platforms in adjacent categories alongside sponsors; nine of the 17 named acquirers of our consumer clients were operating companies or platforms.

Views are those of the Benchmark International Middle Market team, drawn from the figures in this report, which are the latest published as of October 19, 2026. Demand reflects the team's assessment for owner-operated businesses in each sector.

What We're Reading

Primary sources and industry releases from the third quarter.

Four pieces from the quarter

Four releases from the quarter that speak to how consumer businesses are valued and sold.

USDA ECONOMIC RESEARCH SERVICE — September 25, 2026

Food Price Outlook: Summary Findings

> "In 2026, prices for all food are forecast to increase 2.9 percent, with a forecast interval of 2.5 to 3.2 percent."
> USDA Economic Research Service, Food Price Outlook

Key takeaway. Food-at-home prices are forecast to rise 2.4% and food-away-from-home prices 3.5%, with beef and veal up 9.4% and eggs down 29.4%. Input costs are moving in different directions by category, which is why buyers ask for price and cost history by product line.

READ HERE

PRIVATE LABEL MANUFACTURERS ASSOCIATION — July 8, 2026

Store Brands Continue Gains in Unit Sales and Shares

> "The disconnect between unit sales and dollar sales reflects, in part, fluctuating national brand pricing."
> Peggy Davies, President, Private Label Manufacturers Association

Key takeaway. Store brand unit share reached a record 23.8% in the six months to mid-June, while store brand dollar sales were flat and national brand dollars rose 2.2%. Buyers pay for brands that hold unit volume while they raise price.

READ HERE

NATIONAL RESTAURANT ASSOCIATION — September 30, 2026

Restaurant Performance Index: August 2026

> "The National Restaurant Association's Restaurant Performance Index (RPI) rose for the fourth consecutive month in August, largely because of improvements in both same-store sales and customer traffi c levels."
> National Restaurant Association, Restaurant Performance Index

Key takeaway. The index stood at 100.6, with 51% of operators reporting higher same-store sales than a year earlier and 46% still reporting lower traffic. Distributors and equipment dealers that sell to restaurants are valued partly on the health of those customers.

READ HERE

DELOITTE — September 10, 2026

Deloitte Forecasts Holiday Retail Sales to Reach $1.70 Trillion to $1.71 Trillion

> "As they look to get more out of their dollars, we continue to see value-seeking behaviors across income levels, including switching among brands and retailers and using promotions to manage spending."
> Natalie Martini, vice chair, Deloitte, and US retail and consumer products leader

Key takeaway. Holiday sales are forecast to rise 4.0% to 4.8% and e-commerce sales 7.5% to 8.4%. Online sales growing at nearly twice the pace of the total keeps channel mix in front of every buyer of a consumer brand.

Earnings and Commentary

Beverage, beauty, and platform companies grew fastest in their latest quarter, while General Mills and Campbell's reported lower sales.

Net sales growth, latest quarter

Year over year, as reported; selected companies

BRANDS AND PRICING

"We delivered a strong first half, with reported net sales up 8.7%, organic net sales up 5.8% and meaningful earnings recovery."

Kirk Tanner, President and Chief Executive Officer, The Hershey Company

"Our power brands continued to perform exceptionally well in a challenging macroeconomic environment, driving a second straight quarter of industry-leading organic sales growth."

Rick Dierker, Chief Executive Officer, Church & Dwight

READ-THROUGH

Hershey's second-quarter organic sales rose 3.6% on about 12 points of price against an 8-point volume decline, and Church & Dwight grew volume 4.3%, so buyers look at units before price.

CHANNELS AND PORTFOLIOS

"We also saw continued progress across our omni-channel model, including strong wholesale sell-through, healthy DTC demand and improving trends in Corporate Sales."

Matt Reintjes, Chair of the Board and Chief Executive Officer, YETI

"We remain confident in the strategic benefits of the proposed combination with Unilever Foods and have made substantial progress on integration planning."

Brendan M. Foley, Chairman, President, and CEO, McCormick

READ-THROUGH

Keurig Dr Pepper's growth includes JDE Peet's, YETI grew wholesale sales 10% and direct-to-consumer sales 7%, and McCormick is planning its Unilever Foods combination, so buyers separate acquired from organic growth.

PLATFORMS AND DISTRIBUTION

"We also successfully completed the conversion of Joe Hudson's 258 locations during the quarter, accelerating synergy realization, which contributed to the strength in our profitability."

Brian Kaner, President & CEO, Boyd Group

"We have clear positive momentum in our business domestically and internationally."

Kevin Hourican, Chair of the Board and Chief Executive Officer, Sysco

READ-THROUGH

Boyd's sales rose 29.9%, mostly from new locations that include 258 Joe Hudson's centers, and Sysco reported positive case growth across its local, national, and international businesses.

Growth is net sales as reported for each company's latest quarter, ended May to September 2026 (StockAnalysis, retrieved October 19, 2026), and includes acquisitions, divestitures, and currency; Keurig Dr Pepper includes JDE Peet's. Organic growth for Hershey and Church & Dwight is on page 5. Quotations are from each company's earnings release.

Public Company Metrics: Food and Beverage

Packaged food companies trade at a median 8.8 times EBITDA. Keurig Dr Pepper's figures include JDE Peet's, and Utz has agreed to be acquired by Intersnack.

Source: FRED, series GASDESM

Each series runs from January 2021. September retail figures are the Census advance estimate on the series as revised October 15, 2026, and September sentiment is the final reading from the Surveys of Consumers. The consumer price series have no October 2025 reading because that month's index was not produced during the federal shutdown; the unadjusted food-at-home increase for September is 1.9%.

Connect With Us

A first conversation is confidential and carries no obligation.

CONFIDENTIAL. NO PRESSURE. NO COMMITMENTS.

It all starts with a conversation.

Want to explore your options or know more? Our first step is always a confidential conversation exploring your goals, your company, and your options. Owners considering a strategic sale, merger, or qualifying change-of-control transaction in any of the four consumer sectors, and the advisors who work with them, are welcome to call or email.
